To best service the field and our valued customers, it is crucial that we keep inventory balanced as the phase-out of R-410A refrigerant draws near. As a solution to ensure the necessary inventory is more widely available to you and your customers, we are implementing this important change.

Effective October 8, 2024, residential fan coils and/or condensers must be purchased as part of a complete Carrier, Bryant, and/or Payne system.

However, we are pleased to inform you that the Aspen line of fan coils is an exception to this policy and can still be purchased individually.

Thank you for your understanding and cooperation during this important transition. We appreciate your business and your partnership.

- CE Florida

All Carrier, Bryant and Payne 410A system purchases made after Friday, October 25, 2024, are final. No returns of these systems will be permitted.
